VOLUME 9 ISSUE 7

Yahshua was an obedient child

It may be hard to imagine Yahshua ever being a child. But He indeed was! Yes, Yahweh had Him be born as a human infant to human parents. Not much is known about Yahshua's childhood, but one thing stands out! He was obedient to His earthly parents, and also loved His Heavenly Father more than anything.

You, as a young believer, can learn a lot from this. Are you obedient to your parents? And do you love your Heavenly Father more than anything? It's okay to love our parents and siblings strongly, of course, but our love for Yahweh must be the strongest.

Obedience to our parents is one of the first commandments in the Bible that comes with a promise. Those who obey are promised a long life! Doesn't everyone want a long life? So the next time a rebellious thought comes into your head, stop and think before you say anything. The best time to nip it in the bud is before it comes out your mouth. If you do say anything disrespectful, apologize immediately. Yes, our actions are being watched by our Heavenly Father. You can also pray to be more respectful and obedient. Yahweh would never deny a sincere request to become the person He wants you to be. Now is the time to start developing righteous character. Your life will be so much more blessed if you do!

2. Proverbs 30:5: Every Word of Yahweh proves true.
3. Deuteronomy 6:5: You shall love Yahweh your Elohim with all your heart, with all your soul, and all your might.
4. 1 Corinthians 10:31: Whatever you do, do everything for the glory of Yahweh.
5. Psalm 19:1: The heavens declare the glory of Yahweh.

Fun and Games!

Hey, Kids! Did you know you can make your own games for very little money, or even free? Be creative! The possibilities are endless. Here's some easy ideas to get you started, but please contact us with your own wonderful inventions! Please check with your parents before trying any of these ideas. You'll need their help for some of the games.

1. Make your own tiny island! If you have a small wading pool or even a small dish-pan, fill it with sand. Then you can populate it with small trees, dolls, plastic toy animals or other toys.
2. You can also turn a little pool into a "fishing hole." Just have your parents help you cut out fish shapes from cheap colorful sponges. You can stick metal brads onto them as eyes. Then make a fishing pole from a wooden dowel. You can attach a small magnet to the end of a string and go fishing!
3. Make some water balloon piñatas. Fill about a dozen balloons with water and attach them to tree branches with string. Give each player about 30 seconds to swing at the balloons with a stick or plastic baseball bat. Blindfolds are optional. Stay out of the way of the one swinging the stick! It's fun to get a good soaking on a scorching hot day.
4. Lawn bowling. If you an inexpensive set of plastic or inflatable bowling pins, you can set them up in a triangular pattern and roll a playground ball to see how many you can knock down. If you don't have pins, just make your own with large plastic bottles. Put a little sand in the bottle to keep them upright while you try to knock them down.
5. Ball toss. Line up plastic buckets or bowls. Make a chalk line marking where you should stand. Each player can toss a tennis ball into the first bucket. If it goes in, toss it into the second bucket. The turn continues until you miss a bucket. Then the next player is up.
6. Scavenger hunt. Kids of many generations have played this game. You can make this even more challenging by writing clues for each item to find. For instance, if you hid an acorn, you can write a clue that says, "from this seeds comes a mighty oak."

Play a game of cat and mouse!
