Making right choices

I'm always happy to meet young believers who are committed to serving Yahweh. They recognize that His commands are for their own good, and are striving to live a life that is pleasing to Him. The world we live in as a whole is not following Yahweh's ways. It is sad to see the evening news, and all the bad things that are happening in the world. But, as Yahweh's people, we can be different. There are many temptations in the world that lead believers astray. We must be strong in our faith and pray for protection daily. A lot of suffering in our lives can be caused by making bad choices. It doesn't matter where you are born, or what your circumstances are. Bad choices affect everyone.

One of the first commands with a promise in Scripture is found in Exodus 20:12, in which we are told to honor our parents so that our days will be long upon the earth. One of the ways we can honor our parents is to obey them. Another way is to always be respectful to them, in our words and actions. Even though our parents are not perfect and sometimes make mistakes, we are still required to honor them. You can also learn to express gratitude. Make it a habit to say "please" and "thank you." This shows much respect! It also sets a good example to other children who may not be as respectful to their parents as you are to yours. Your relationships will be better too.

Also, remember that not only do you have earthly parents, but we all have a Heavenly Father too. We must always approach Yahweh with honor and respect! He loves us, and cares for us very deeply, even sending His own Son to die in our place for our sins. Make it a habit to talk to Yahweh every day. This good habit will continue into adulthood. Always try to make good choices, so that you can avoid needless suffering.

Help the children around the world to find their way to their parent's house.
The parents asked them to come home before lunch time. It's almost lunch time!
